

LIFE INSURANCE MAN IS MISSING.

Lauritz Lauritzen Mysteriously Drops Out of Sight in This City.

NO CLUE TO WHEREABOUTS.

Home Is in Glenwood, Sevier County,
Where Family and Friends Are Greatly Distressed.

Where is Lauritz Lauritzen of Glenwood, Sevier county, Utah? This is a question which the southern town is trying to answer, and so far without result. Lauritz Lauritzen has been missing since Feb. 7 of this year, on which date he wrote his wife, Tena Lauritzen, from Salt Lake City, enclosing $25. This money he had earned as agent for the New York Life Insurance company. Enquiries have been sent out for him but none have brought tidings of his whereabouts. A state of anxious unrest on the part of his wife is now

LAURITZ LAURITZEN,
Former Town Marshal of Glenwood Who Has Been Missing For Months.

AUDITOR SOUNDS NOTE OF WARNING.

In a letter to the county commissioners, County Auditor Fisher calls attention to the increase of expenditures the first six months of this year over the same period last year, which amounts to $10,403.03. He further states that at the present rate the expenditures for the entire year will reach $394,320.66, which is $84,000 more than will be realized from taxes this year at the rate of taxation fixed for last year. It is evident, therefore, that the commissioners will have to materially cut down expenses in the various departments or increase the tax levy. The letter from becoming one of serious concern. He was a sober man, of steady habits, and during 1904 was town marshal of Glenwood. He was superintendent of the Glenwood Sunday school, and was an active church worker. Everyone who knew him had the greatest respect for him, and as a member of the community he was rated high.

Do you think you know all there is in those three letters, t-e-a?

On Jan. 11 of this year Mr. Lauritzen left his home to accept a position with the New York Life Insurance company. He traveled for them over the southern part of Utah, and on Feb. 7 wrote his wife from Salt Lake. This is the last heard of him.

Enquiries in the "News" at the New York Life company's offices did not throw any light on the situation. The company regards his disappearance as much of a mystery as does his family and town people. The record shows that he was employed for a short time this year as a solicitor of insurance, and that he disappeared without giving any notice soon after his employment. His account, however, was balanced, showing that he did not owe the company a cent. One employee of the headquarters records a letter from him in which there was a reference to a contemplated trip into Idaho, but the letter is not on file.

Lauritzen is described as a man 52 years of age, weighing 165 pounds, 5 feet 10 inches high, with gray beard and mustache. In nationality he was a Dane. Five years ago he returned from a mission to his native country for his chosen faith.

TEN THOUSAND OUT AT SALT AIR.

Real Estate Day at Famous Bathing Resort Was a Veritable Hummer.

BIG DRAWING WAS A FEATURE

List of the Winning Numbers, the Holders of Which Are Entitled To Prizes.

It was real estate day at Saltair yesterday, in fact as well as name. Every visitor brought his souvenir of Salt Lake land, and left it on the platforms and in the pavilion. It was the one day of the summer that a downpour of rain has occurred, but in the explanations of the happy and smiling real estate men, this was merely to raise the lake so that bathing would be improved. Early in the afternoon the crowd was small, but the hosts looked happy and watched the trains. At 6:15 o'clock a long train pulled in packed to its extreme capacity, and the people on the platform pulled in carrying crowds on the tops of the cars, a condition which prevailed until the 7:45 train had arrived. At that time the smile of the real estate men was just as fixed as at 2 o'clock, when the beach was almost deserted.

The pavilion was packed both on the lower floor, where lunching parties filled the tables, and on the dancing floor, where for once in the history of Salt Lake the band was too big to make dancing possible for half an hour preceding 10 o'clock.

At this hour the ingoing crowd relieved the pressure sufficiently to allow dancing with comfort and from then till after midnight a merry crowd tripped the time away on the big floor. The damp shoes were the polish off the door, but that didn't count for much with the throng.

CROWD ESTIMATED AT 10,000.

At 10 o'clock careful estimates placed the crowd at 10,000 people. The 11:30 train, scheduled to be the last, could not carry anywhere near all the crowd, and two subsequent specials had to be run to bring in those who were left. The car service in Salt Lake was ample to care for the crowd coming in after midnight. An abridged circuit was run even for the last train so that the tired pleasure seekers could drop off to their homes without inconvenience, even when they came in long after midnight.

BATHING WAS EXCELLENT.

It was late when the crowd began to try the water. On account of the keen wind that was blowing it was feared that the water would be too cold, but those who went in found it not so. Once wet over if one was careful to go in the water he had only the best swimming. The waves rolled high and added a zest to a dip in the water that is not often had. The bathers were not numerous, but those who were in will long count it as one of the best dips of the season.

DRAWING ATTRACTED CROWD.

At 10:45 o'clock real estate men with megaphones announced the drawing of prizes on the balcony to the main staircase to the dancing floor. This brought the crowd to the main floor in front of the stairs, and there they listened to the announcements while watching their tickets to hear if their numbers were read. The tickets were taken out by Little Mary Knowdell and passed to Gov. Cutler, who read the numbers, after which Announcer Sadie called them to the stage. There were 160 prizes, and when this number of tickets were drawn, each ticket bearing the price for the prize it corresponded with in the order in which they were arranged.
